

ActiveFax | Dokmail

An unbeatable combination for solid savings

Spend less time and money mailing documents

Optimize your and your clients' document management processes

Allow your customers to archive their invoices securely

Send several types of documents straight from your software

Together to optimize your performance

A perfect duo

When you select ActiveFax or Dokmail, you're choosing high-quality software that lets you manage your mail more efficiently and reduce your costs. Are you looking to maximize your savings? Pair these two powerful solutions and work with a high-performance tool which will meet all your needs.

Choose the combination that suits your needs and enjoy significant savings

	ActiveFax	Dokmail
Reduce the time and money you spend on mailing documents	✓	✓
Optimize your and your clients' document management processes	✓	✓
Allow your customers to archive their invoices securely		✓
Send quotes, purchase orders, and account statements directly from your software	✓
Save time and send documents in just a few clicks thanks to automated sending	✓	✓
Check the status of documents sent and the list of exceptions	✓
Send electronically your clients' invoices and monthly account statements in PDF		✓
Allow your clients to search for, view, and print invoices and monthly account statements wherever they are, via an Internet connection		✓

Reduce your administrative costs

- Do away with printing, handling, and mailing expenses
- Minimize the time spent on filing and searching and focus on more profitable tasks
- Speed up your processes by saving your clients' preferences and by using the automated sending function

Electronic document sending with endless possibilities!

Send several types of document directly from your software

- On request: send quotes, purchase orders, special orders, invoice copies, and account statements
- Mass mailing: attach invoice copies to your monthly account statements and program promotional mailings which include your documents

Simplify communication with your clients and suppliers

- Send specific documents to your clients and suppliers in seconds
- Check the status of documents sent and the list of exceptions on your console
- Send documents from any application you are using

Reduce forms usage and postage fees!

The Dokmail secure website lets you send invoices efficiently and securely. Any document that your company sends via Dokmail becomes automatically available for viewing by your clients.

Use Dokmail to

- Send your invoices and monthly account statements directly from OGC by email
- Allow your customers to receive and print their invoices and account statements directly through the Internet
- Let your customers select the frequency and manage their mailing preferences
- Allow them to view their history using advanced functions

The benefits of our duo

Speed

Quickly provide your clients with information in the desired format

Efficiency

Ensure effective follow-ups on your mailings and make searches easier

Simplicity

Send documents directly from your management software in a matter of seconds

Cost-Effectiveness

Increase employee productivity and reduce your mailing costs

Security

Allow your customers to archive electronically their invoices as PDF files

Accessibility

Enable your clients to easily access their history through the Internet

Contact us to learn more and to benefit from all these advantages!

